TOKIO IS COMPLETELY DESTROYED; 60,000 DEAD!

Grave Fears For Shanghai Visitors At Japanese Resorts

FLOUR

American Flour Now Arriving

Output Here 40,000 Sacks Daily

Good Demand For Local Product

THE product of the American flour mills which was contracted for by the Shanghai merchants in the early part of June last is now beginning to arrive. The first small shipments comprising some 1,000 tons have been received, and more is expected in forthcoming weeks. No new business in American flour is being done at present as the American price is almost the same as before and only cheaper rates would induce the merchants to place further orders in the United States. Prices for the Chinese product are lower, and there is little inclination on the part of importers to draw for supplies, in view of the very heavy quantity already booked for shipment as far ahead as November. The amount bought is sufficient to provide for the needs of Shanghai for three months to come, so it is very likely that future indents will be done on a small scale and not until a good portion of the contracted cargo is worked off would there be a hope of any strong buying from Shanghai.

American flour is quoted at about Tls. 1.92 to Tls. 1.95 per sack of 49 pounds, ex-godown Shanghai. This is almost equal in value to the Chinese flour, which is quoted in 50 pounds sacks. No less than four million sacks of American flour are expected to reach Shanghai during September to November. To this has to be added a quantity of a million sacks ordered by Tientsin. Hongkong has also been buying American flour, but not to a large extent. Her purchases are estimated at between a million and a million-and-a-half sacks. She has now stopped buying, in sympathy with the action of Shanghai merchants. Manchuria has also made large purchases of American flour, but smaller in volume than the amount contracted for by Hongkong and Tientsin and Shanghai.

Imports of wheat flour into Hongkong have increased considerably during the past three years, outranking other sources of supply. At present no large stocks are carried in Hongkong, the rate ruling there being below replacement cost. The trouble in the South is militating against any large movement of flour into the interior points. American flour from the Pacific Northwest finds a ready market in Hongkong, but it is stated that Canadian flour is also in request while the Australian grade could be marketed if prices lowered a little. Imports of American flour into Hongkong constitute over 85 percent of the total imports of wheat flour into that port. Against 862,078 piculs that Hongkong imported in 1920 her imports last year reached the grand total of 1,535,846 piculs, the importations during 1921 being 899,501 piculs. It might be added that the Chinese in the South prefer pure white flour to that of any other color.

The output of the flour mills at present working in Shanghai is about 10,000 barrels a day or roughly 40,000 sacks daily. There is a good demand for the local product, the inquiry being at present chiefly from Antung, Dairen, Tientsin, Tsingtau, the Yangtsze Valley, Amoy, Swatow and the interior of Kiangsu. At the ruling rate of Tls. 2 per sack, the Shanghai flour mills are just enabled to meet expenses, with probably a little over. There is no demand for Chinese flour from abroad, owing to the high price it is commanding in the local market.

The flour mills of Japan have been carrying more stocks than they could dispose of. Yet they have been looking forward to better times as wheat consumption in Japan is increasing. With this idea the Nippon Flour Mill has been constructing a large plant at Kawasaki, near Yokohama, to be completed for the same purpose. In order to get facilities for transporting and handling imported materials, such mills will be built near the seaports—Kobe, Yokohama and others—provided with modern devices. Success in this new departure will seriously affect the Japanese wheat market and mills standing far inland. The effect of the earthquake on all these plans and on prices is yet to be known.

Most of the Pacific Coast flour mills are either grinding heavily or getting ready to grind on full time, operating for large Oriental flour bookings made for shipment up to and pretty well through November. Some of the more conservative mills have taken very little of this business for fear of not being able to get wheat on account of the attitude of growers in refusing to sell at going prices. They are now less

Seven American Destroyers Sent To Yokohama

The United States Navy Department has ordered the American destroyers comprising the Thirty-eighth division to proceed to Japan and place themselves in a position to be of assistance to American residents of Tokio and Yokohama immediately, according to wireless messages received in Shanghai last night.

The Borie is due to arrive in Nagasaki this morning, and the Stewart, Barker, Whipple, Tracy, John D. Edwards and Smith Thompson have been ordered direct to Yokohama from off Chefoo. They are due to arrive in Yokohama tomorrow.

The destroyers will immediately establish communication between the American Embassy officials in Tokio, American Consul in Charge at Yokohama and Washington.

GREAT ANXIETY FELT HERE FOR FRIENDS AND KIN

Shanghailanders Sailing On President Pierce And Shanghai Maru

The greatest anxiety is felt by scores of Shanghailanders because of the limited information concerning the safety of foreigners in Tokio, Yokohama and nearby summer resorts following the great catastrophe that has laid the two cities in ruins and carried desolation through the surrounding countryside. Many Shanghai people have relatives and close friends, either living in the terrified district, or visiting there temporarily. Several of them are leaving for Yokohama on the Shanghai Maru or President Pierce this morning in an attempt to locate their missing relatives and friends.

Mr. V. G. Lyman of the Standard Oil Company and a member of the Municipal Council is sailing on the Maru today to search for Mrs. Lyman and his family who have been spending the summer in the Hakone district. Reports from Hakone last night say the district is devastated and that 40 foreigners are dead there alone.

Mrs. William McBain and Miss Billie Cools are at Kamakura, where two royal princes were killed. No reports of others killed there have been received here but grave fears are felt for all in the Kamura district. Mrs. McBain has with her the baby of Mr. R. A. Currey, the local architect.

Mr. T. D. Bannister, who arrived on the Siberia Maru yesterday, is returning on the President Pierce this morning. He left his wife and baby at the Kamakura Hotel just a few days ago.

Among other prominent Shanghai residents who were at Hakone or Miyanoshita and fears for whose safety are felt are Mr. and Mrs. John Prentice, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. P. Crighton and their families, also Mrs. H. Reynell—whose husband is sailing today for Japan—Mrs. H. H. Read and Mrs. Momber. Among passen-

STEPS TAKEN TO ORGANISE SHANGHAI AID FOR VICTIMS

Organisations Here Await Word From Japan

TO SECURE RICE

Supplies To Be Ready When Called For

Preliminary steps were taken in Shanghai yesterday for the mobilisation of resources of various local organisations and for enlisting the assistance of wealthy individuals as well toward the forwarding of relief to the hundreds of thousands of earthquake sufferers in Japan.

It is likely that a comprehensive committee representative of the various relief and commercial bodies will be formed and that primary activities will be confined to measures for the securing of quantities of rice and other foodstuffs which will thus be available for immediate shipment to the stricken districts. Just at present the local societies are awaiting further word from Japan and the Japanese Consul-General, Mr. S. Yada, has promised to keep them informed and call upon them as soon as the need is indicated, advising of the form the relief should take.

RELIEF BODY MEETS

The Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee held a meeting at noon yesterday which was attended by a very representative gathering of leading Chinese. Owing to the lack of definite information as to what might be desired from Shanghai no plan could be adopted at this meeting but there was considerable discussion of ways and means which should be brought into play as soon as the word should be given.

The Committee called upon the Japanese Consul-General, who said that he had not yet received any official word regarding the relief needs, but thanked his callers for their offer to act and said that he would keep in touch with them on the matter.

TO SECURE RICE

The suggestion most stressed at the meeting was that of getting a quantity of rice ready for shipping off without delay and it is probable that this work will be begun immediately, so that a considerable quantity of the cereal will be available for rapid movement.

The Committee met again last night, when it was announced that the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company would place a ship at the disposal of the workers here for the shipment of grain or other supplies.

The meeting appointed Mr. Wong I-ting and Mr. C. H. Shen, manager of the Bank of Communications, chairmen of a tentative Japanese relief committee to act if necessary and the suggestion was made that possibly the Chinese Red Cross Society might be willing to undertake the consolidation of all branches of local endeavor.

UNIT READY TO GO

It was also decided that Messrs. Tu and Yeh, and possibly one foreign representative, be prepared to go to Yokohama if it is deemed advisable to send emissaries to look after the arrival of supplies and act as a liaison unit.

The Japanese community is also moving actively to organise for rendering help to their suffering fellow-countrymen while it was stated unofficially yesterday that the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the Pan-Pacific Union, the Overseas Chinese Association, the Industrial and Commercial Development Association and other bodies had taken the matter up.

The American Red Cross Society in China, according to a Reuter's message last night, is being called upon by the headquarters at home to render what assistance may be called for and, though no official word has been received as yet by the officials

No American Liners In Port During Quake

By strange chance, not a single American passenger liner was in Yokohama when the terrific tidal waves struck on Saturday.

The Pacific Mail liner President Lincoln reached Yokohama Thursday at daylight and sailed that evening. The President Madison was in port at Yokohama Thursday but sailed Friday morning and reached Kobe safely Saturday noon.

The President Jefferson, enroute from Shanghai to the United States was at Kobe Friday afternoon, but was delayed off port by a threatened typhoon that night and rigid quarantine inspection and remained at anchor at Kobe all day Saturday.

Among the vessels tied up at Yokohama on Thursday were the Messageries Maritimes liner Andre Lebon, which is believed to have been at Yokohama Saturday, the day of the disaster.

Premonition!

BY BERT L. KUHN

Ordinarily, it would be branded as just another of those "after it all happens" predictions.

In this instance, however, Mr. George C. Ballard, physician and scientist with the Rockefeller Foundation, was sitting at our table in the dining room of the Steamer President Lincoln, and the prediction, as can be readily verified by our three other table-mates, was made not after, but the night before tidal waves and earth quakes exacted their terrible toll in Tokio and Yokohama.

It was dinner time on Friday. We had left Yokohama the day before and were en route to Kobe. At Yokohama, all had been serene. There had been dances at the hotels, endless trading at the shops, not even a sign of the usual August typhoon to cast its cloud over the prospective sailing to China.

"I had an awfully strange dream last night," Dr. Ballard started.

We all took it as part of the ordinary table talk..

"Yes, what was it?" we asked.

"It was the most vivid thing I've ever experienced," he answered. "I dreamed that all of Tokio had been destroyed by flames and earthquakes. I saw the whole city devastated, the big buildings in ruins, hundreds of thousands of people killed."

We all laughed it off as just another of those things and claimed that the doctor had eaten a bit too much camembert the night before.

It was not until four days later that we, as passengers on the Lincoln, knew that Dr. Ballard's dream prediction had come true the very next day.

Previous advices had been received by the ship's officers, but were not made known to the passengers. On Saturday at Kobe, two slight earthquake shocks were felt but nothing was thought of them. At the Oriental Hotel, the chandeliers swayed back and forth in a rather disturbing fashion, but beyond that there was nothing.

We sailed from Kobe at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. There had been no advices of the catastrophe at Yokohama and Tokio at that hour. At midnight that night, the Lincoln picked up an S. O. S. from a steamer which reported itself aground at Yokohama and pounding on the beach with 200 Japanese steerage passengers aboard. By that time, however, we were so far south

QUAKE IN CHINA

Kuyuan, Kansu province, Sept. 3.—A very strong earthquake shock was felt here last night at 9:15 o'clock. The shocks lasted ten minutes and heavy damage is reported. The people are fleeing. The shock was the strongest experienced in the district since 1920. Cholera is also raging and there have been many fatalities.

EARLY REPORTS OF GREAT DISASTER ARE CONFIRMED; MANY LEAVING HERE TO SEARCH FOR RELATIVES

Eye-witnesses Bring Back Terrible Stories Of Devastation Caused By Earthquake And Flames In Japanese Capital And Other Cities; Water Mains Broken, Halting Efforts To Check Flames; Big Buildings, Including New Imperial Hotel And Bank Of Japan, Leveled; All Newspaper Plants Destroyed; Relief Measures Under Way In Osaka, Kobe And Other Places; Prince Regent Safe, But Other Distinguished Persons Killed; Fate Of Foreign Visitors At Summer Resorts Unknown

There was virtually nothing in the telegrams from Japan yesterday or last night to indicate that first reports of the earthquake and fire disaster had been exaggerated. Tokio apparently has been completely destroyed, with very heavy loss of life. As to the number of dead, estimates vary. Some Osaka reports put the number as high as 150,000, while the Japanese Consulate in Shanghai places the figure at 60,000. Reports from Yokohama are meagre, but indications are that the damage there is almost as widespread as at Tokio.

The popular Japanese summer resorts, Hakone, Kamakura, Miyanoshita, Atami and Namadzu, all crowded to capacity with August visitors, apparently suffered heavily and it is feared that many prominent visitors, both foreign and Japanese, were killed. Many Shanghai residents were sojourning at these resorts and there is grave anxiety as to their fate. Many Shanghai men are sailing to Japan today to search for relatives.

Relief measures are well under way, both in Japan and elsewhere. British and American warships are speeding to Yokohama, and in Shanghai arrangements are being made to forward supplies as soon as there is a call for them.

All Reports Add To Horror; 200,000 Buildings In Ruins

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, Sept. 3, (1.00 p.m.)—All reports agree that Tokio, the creation of modern science and civilisation, is now completely destroyed. The Japanese are recalling the prophecy of the Omotokyo, the new Japanese religious sect, that the year 1923 would witness a change in the seat of the Imperial Government. This prophecy seems likely to be fulfilled as the destruction is so complete that it is possible that the national capital will be temporarily transferred to Kyoto, the former capital, or to Osaka, the business capital.

The Prince Regent is working hard on relief measures without sleep. Amongst other things, he has ordered the beautiful gardens of the Main Palace, the Hama Detached Palace and the Shinjyuku to be thrown open to refugees.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Nagasaki, Sept. 3 (1.30 p.m.)—Tokio is still burning. The Bank of Japan is reported to have been demolished yesterday.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 3.—The earthquake in Japan quickly put the international crisis in the shade. The magnitude of the catastrophe aroused very keen sympathy throughout Britain which is voiced in editorial articles. For example, the Times says that such incredible suffering cannot fail to move the heart of mankind in the midst of the sorrows and cares of the troubled day.

The first need, however, is help and generous help will certainly be given to the stricken nation whose magnificent effort of will has been one of the wonders of the modern world.

The Daily Mail says that the Japanese, who have given many proofs of courage and coolness in the face of danger and death, will doubtless face the present immense calamity with their accustomed stoicism. The journal hopes that British warships will be despatched if necessary to give all possible assistance.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, Sept. 3, (noon).—The terrible plight in which the inhabitants of Tokio and Yokohama and themselves is pitifully depicted in various newspaper reports. For instance, hungry people in Tokio are trying to catch carp in the ponds in Hibiya Park.

It is estimated that at least 9,000 tons of rice are wanted in Tokio alone. The quantity of the available stock of rice in Tokio is unknown because a considerable portion is believed to have been lost in the fire. The authorities at Osaka are making an effort to gather a supply to ship to Tokio. Rice prices are advancing.

ceived the following report by Lieut. Ishida, who reconnoitred Tokio by aeroplane yesterday afternoon: "The Palace is safe and only partially damaged. Tokio is devastated except Ushigome Ward, part of Koishigawa Ward, practically the whole of Yotsuya Ward and the north side Aoyamadori. Practically all the concrete buildings and brick buildings have collapsed. Fukagawa Ward is flooded by a tidal wave. It is difficult to fly over the city owing to flame and smoke. Nikko, where His Majesty is staying, is reported not to be seriously damaged. The Imperial Household Department has also been burned."

Nagasaki, Sept. 3 (1.55 p.m.)—President Coolidge's message of sympathy, intercepted by the naval wireless at Sasebo, is published in all the newspapers. The people are extremely gratified at the friendly offer of assistance.

London, Sept. 3.—Underwriters are very keenly interested in the catastrophe in Japan but direct financial interests are likely to be strictly limited since after the great San Francisco earthquake in 1906 fire underwriters have been careful to see that the risk of earthquake is specifically excluded from the terms of the ordinary fire policy.

In isolated cases companies may have specially accepted the risk for additional premium but it is believed that there have been comparatively little demand from Japan for this special form of insurance. It is believed that marine underwriters in some insurance contracts covering shipping in course of construction also specially excluded the risk of damage by seismic disturbance.

director of the Hongkong Hotels Company, was due to reach Yokohama by the steamer Empress of Australia the day before the disaster. He was travelling to the Japan port to meet Mrs. Taggart who was on her way back to the East after spending several months in America.

According to announcement in the latest Tokio papers to hand American Ambassador Cyrus E. Woods, accompanied by Mrs. Woods and by her mother, Mrs. J. A. Marchand, returned to the Embassy at Tokio on August 27, with the intention of remaining in the capital for the rest of the summer. They had been visiting at Nikko and other points and returned to Tokio from Hakone.

Mr. W. E. Pierson, of the Far Eastern office of the United Artists Corporation, is also believed to have been in Yokohama at the time the triple blow fell. He was awaiting the arrival of the steamer President Jefferson on which he was to sail for the States.

Mr. Verne Clare is also sailing this morning to look after the interests of the Asia Banking Corporation and its staff. No word has been received from them.

UNLUCKY TRAVELERS

Several well known people missed getting away from Yokohama only by a few hours. According to the Japan Advertiser on August 29 Mr. Paul Poncet of Pila and Company was to have left Yokohama on the day of the earthquake. Mr. C. N. B. Aall, the Norwegian Consul, was to have left on the Empress of Australia for Europe the same day. Mr. F. N. Shea of the American Trading Company was to have left on the same steamer.

Mrs. A. Widdeman, wife of Mr. A. Widdeman of Melcher's China Corporation, and five children were summering near Mount Fuji, and Mr. Widdeman is anxious over their fate.

U. S. Marshal Thurston R. Porter, who was to have been married in Kobe on Saturday to Miss Louise McCoubrey, formerly Deputy Clerk of the United States Court, is believed to be in Kobe still. Mr. and Mrs. Porter were supposed to spend their honeymoon in one of the mountain resorts, but it not believed they left Kobe.

Mr. de Figuerido is a stepbrother of Mr. J. M. de Figuerido of the business department of THE CHINA PRESS.

Butterfield and Swire are one of the few firms to have received information concerning their staff. They received a message late yesterday that Mr. W. F. Harley, Mr. J. B. Lanyon and Mr. G. S. Nelson had been taken aboard their own steamer, the s.s. Lycaon, now in Yokohama harbor. No word was received of Mr. W. G. Feast. The offices were located on the Bund and no news concerning them has been received, but it is assumed they were destroyed.

LINCOLN ARRIVES AFTER STRENUOUS VOYAGE ACROSS

Pacific Mail Ship Goes Through Typhoon; Narrowly Misses Quake

After braving an unexpected typhoon, and escaping by a narrow margin the tidal waves and earthquakes in Japan, the Pacific Mail liner President Lincoln arrived at Shanghai last night, docking at the China Merchants Central wharf at 6.30 o'clock.

The Lincoln was but one day out of Honolulu when it found itself in the center of a typhoon of extreme violence, which raged for twelve hours. Considerable minor damage was done by the force of the waves. Glass panes on the promenade deck were smashed in, several state rooms were flooded, companion ways washed out and the galley smokestacks swept over by the wind so that it was impossible to cook dinner one night. One mast which carried the radio aerial was broken to splinters and for eighteen hours the ship was out of communication with land or other vessels.

The Lincoln arrived at Yokohama Thursday at daylight and sailed for Kobe that night, two days before the tidal waves struck. The vessel was held off port at Kobe all night because of an expected typhoon.

The Lincoln, on this voyage, is taking the schedule of the Steamer President Wilson, on which fire broke out on the day it was scheduled to sail from San Francisco. Some damage was done by the flames in the Wilson's engine room, and the sailing was delayed for two weeks. The Lincoln will continue to run on the Wilson's schedule, but will attempt to make up the five days, which it is late, on this trip. The Wilson sailed from San Francisco on August 24, taking up the Lincoln's schedule.

Statesmen Greet Holland's Queen On Anniversary

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, Sept. 1.—Queen Wilhelmina today gave an audience to the Members of the States-General who handed addresses of congratulation of her accession. The Queen in reply spoke with deep emotion of the affection and help her people had always bestowed on her. Her Majesty hoped that the determination to be free and independent, which had carried the Dutch through the dangers of the past, would continue to inspire them in the future.

Subsequently the Queen received the members of the International Court of Justice. Replying to an address by the President, Dr. Loder, the Queen expressed her heartfelt wishes for the success of the Court and said that she would do her utmost to contribute to the final victory of international justice.

Premonition!

that it would have been useless to turn back.

It was not until yesterday, when the pilot boarded the vessel and brought on the Shanghai newspapers that the full story was made known.

Dr. Ballard is as much at a loss to account for his strange dream prediction as are any of those who heard it. He says, however, that he had a similar experience just prior to the sinking of the Titanic. He was booked to sail on the Titanic. The night before sailing, he dreamed that a big ship had been sunk in the Atlantic. The dream was so vivid, that he cancelled his passage. And now, his equally odd vision of the destruction of Yokohama and Tokio has come true.

FLOUR

apprehensive about obtaining adequate supplies. Other mills refused to book flour forward for Shanghai at prices based on the middle of July feed quotations, for fear of a sharp decline in mill feed. This has now taken place, and where not taken into account in flour offers, any profit in these sales by these flour mills on the Pacific Coast to Shanghai merchants has been eliminated.

The American mills have been obliged to turn down a large amount of business from Shanghai and other parts of the Orient recently for September, October and November shipment on account of the impossibility of obtaining ocean space. There is some inquiry going from Shanghai to the Pacific Northwest for December shipment, but the mills, as a rule, refuse to book so far ahead on account of the uncertainty as to the future course of the wheat market, and also on the firm stand taken by growers that they will not sell wheat at the present price basis.

Pacific Coast flour prices both for flour ground from Montana wheat and from Pacific wheats are a workable basis with the Atlantic seaboard. To meet the heavy demand for ocean space for flour and wheat for China and Japan, the United States Shipping Board has allocated an additional vessel of 8,800 tons capacity for September loading, which was fully booked up with flour and wheat tonnage within an hour after the announcement. It is understood that additional ships will be assigned for the Oriental service by the Shipping Board. The objection to the Shipping Board steamship service that it is not sufficiently flexible in meeting seasonable demands for additional tonnage during periods of abnormally large freight offerings is therefore now being met by the assignment of extra ships to cater to the Shanghai demand for American wheat and flour.

here, it is expected that this organisation will be able to furnish a great deal of aid, the report indicating that the national society stands ready to give every support to the workers more nearly in the field.

PLAN CO-ORDINATION

It is hoped to co-ordinate all of these various bodies so that a more easily workable campaign may be inaugurated without loss of time, and it has been suggested that this can best be done under the guidance of Consul-General Yada, as soon as official word of the requirements is received. Meanwhile the individual organisations have indicated that large quantities of food, medical supplies, etc., will be on hand whenever wanted.

Suggestions were also made yesterday with regard to the inauguration of a campaign for public subscriptions, for the sale of "relief" stamps, etc., but these will not take definite form until further word from Japan had been received.

CONDOLENCE EXPRESSED

A message of condolence was sent yesterday by the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to the local Japanese Chamber of Commerce expressing the sympathy of the Chinese merchants here for the great catastrophe that has befallen the Japanese people.

A translation of the letter follows:

"We are all dumbfounded to learn from telegraphic messages of the great disaster that had happened in Tokio and Yokohama as the result of a serious earthquake. The damage is unprecedented. It is indeed a catastrophe unheard of in history. The news grieves us beyond expression, but due to the difficulty in communications, we have to be satisfied with addressing this message of condolence to your people through your good offices and we trust, you will convey to your fellow-countrymen at Tokio, Yokohama and other distressed districts, our deep feeling of sympathy towards them in their present distress."

BARBERS AND CARPENTERS ARE BOTH SHAVERS

Gallopers, With Claire On Mound, Take Game From Millers; 3 Homers

Handful Of Customers Who Risk Wetting To See Contest Are Rewarded By Fine Display Of Hitting And Fielding

By Westa

Some very severe shocks were felt at the baseball park yesterday whereupon a rumor was circulated down town that Herby Gallop had slipped on a banana skin while chasing the hoodoo that has been pestering the Gallopers ever since the Millers have been here. This was a silly rumor and should have been dispelled at once by the fact that all the Nanking Road buildings were still intact, as they certainly would not have been had the ponderous Herby gone into a nose dive anywhere within a mile of that thoroughfare.

The shocks, as a matter of fact, were caused by the crash of bats against the over confident Mr. Birtulpo's floaters. Ever since the Millers have been here their star Filipino pitcher has been kidding himself with the idea that it wasn't necessary to uncork any of his smoke. Yesterday he was out there again, with his smile and his slow ball and what the Gallopers did to both was ample. Two homers, a three bagger and eight singles rattled off of Shanghai bats before Mr. Birtulpo decided to turn on the steam, by which time it was too late. Score, 5 to 4 in our favor. Birtulpo was still smiling when it was all over but he wasn't happy.

Verne Claire, who pitched for Shanghai back in '17, was on the mound for the Gallopers, and except for a brief lapse in the second inning during which the Millers slapped out a homer and two three baggers in such quick succession that the customers couldn't keep track of them, he had the Islanders completely tamed. That little let-up cost three runs, which looked pretty big against the lone tally that we grabbed in the first, when Freddy Bills hit one through home run alley between the golf club and the Swimming Bath, and caused Birtulpo to lob them over a little more carelessly than ever. In the nxt frame, however, the Gallopers ran the Millers ragged with a whole flock of blows, including a home run clout by Claire and a three bagger by Posnecki. These wallops, sweetened by singles by Thatch and Kingman, chased over a total of three runs, which put the Gallopers out in front again.

The Millers tied it up in their half of the fourth on two passes and a single by Cruz, and with darkness coming on rapidly it looked like a knotted battle; but in our turn of the same session Cutchins, Claire and Thatch bunched single from which they squeezed over another run.

The Millers tried hard in their last turn at bat, but Claire held them at bay, despite a two base clout by Montalbo.

It was an exciting game to watch, with plenty of hitting. Montalbo, Bills and Claire drove out circuit clouts, while Birtulpo, Drosdowski and Posnecki hit for three sacks. Freedy Bills had but one chance at short but it was a screech, and Jack Smith was all over the lot at second, scooping hot ones in true Thatchian style, Jerry being at third for the day. Cutchns caught a great game, digging some hard ones out of the dirt.

Football Ass'n Issues Report On Year's Work

Association football continues to hold undisputed sway as the chief winter sport among the foreign community of Shanghai, and is being taken up with remarkable zest by the Chinese also, some of whose teams, notably those of the colleges, are considered to have developed into first-class combinations so far as the Far East is concerned.

The season 1922/23 was, on the whole, a highly successful one. Weather conditions were especially favorable and it was only at the very end of the season that inclement weather had any really disturbing effect on the playing of the fixtures that had been arranged.

The Shanghai Recreation Club first eleven is to be congratulated on having gone through the season unbeaten, and in having won, in no uncertain manner, the Dewar Shield (First League), the the Skottowe Cup and The Marine Engineers' Charity Cup. The football section of the Club Lusitano is likewise to be congratulated on having won the Second League by a decisive margin of points.

The majority of games were well attended by the public, and in the competitions for the Dewar Shield, the Skottowe Cup and the International Cup particularly, interest in the matches remained undiminished throughout.

HIGH CLASS PLAY

Although, generally, the games produced good and high-class football and were well and cleanly contested in the majority of cases, it cannot truthfully be asserted that during the season 1922-23 the best traditions of amateur soccer were in all respects maintained. Regrettable incidents occurred in both First League and Second League matches; there were instances of aggressive violence on the field of play; in other matches veiled or open threats are stated to have been used; and the referees (as is referred to elsewhere in this report) did not on all occasions receive from either players or spectators that consideration of their difficulties and that appreciation of their efforts to which, in amateur football even more than in professional, they undoubtably are entitled. (There was one classical instance connected with a Second League match where, among a host of other advice tendered the referee by players, he was exhorted "to take out a (word omitted) insurance policy before his next match." He has not officiated since). Furthermore, not on all occasions did Clubs appear to be inclined to subordinate their own considerations and aspirations to the aims of the Association and the benefit of local football as a whole; and in the Second League, towards the end of the season, was this particularly noticeable.

INTERPORT FOOTBALL

In response to an invitation from the Hongkong Football Association, a team representative of Shanghai soccer visited the Crown Colony in February, and during the five days our representatives were in Hongkong they played three games. The first of the three, the actual Interport match, was played at Happy Valley on Monday, February 19, and after a well-contested, sporting game the Shanghai team, most ably captained by Mr. James Alfred Quayle, deservedly won by the decisively score of three goals to none. The following day Shanghai's opponents were the strong South China team, and in this match also Shanghai proved the victors, the score at the final whistle being two goals to none. The next day, February 21, our team, with some of its best players uncapacitated and others, although playing, feeling the strain of the two previous matches, and with two substitutes in important positions, met the United Services, who beat Shanghai by five goals to two. Though it is readily admitted by our men that the better team deservedly won, the Services players were absolutely fresh, while the strain of two matches in two days had, not unnaturally, the effect of making our men tired and at a comparative disadvantage to the fine players against whom they were pitted.

Before proceeding to Hongkong the members of the team elected Mr. J. A. Quayle Captain, with Mr. T. W. R. Wilson Vice-Captain, and that the choice was wise was proved beyond doubt. On the field and off, Mr. Quayle proved an admirable Captain, and the players' opinion of him was equalled only by his own high praise of their own play and general deportment.

HONGKONG'S HOSPITALITY

As a mark of appreciation of the success of the team at Hongkong, all of its members were entertained to dinner at the Union Club on March 10, when an extremely pleasant evening was spent. At this dinner the new Patron of the Association, Mr. Sidney Barton, C.M.G., was present, while the Chair was taken by the President of the Association, Mr. John Prentice.

(Acknowledgement must be made of a generous gift of champagne from Messrs. Caldbeck, Macgregor and Co., Ltd.)

No reference to the visit to Hongkong would be complete without mention of the splendid manner in which the Hongkong Football Association, the press of Hongkong and the Hongkong public generally treated the Shanghai players and their supporters. Nothing that could cater to their comfort, convenience and pleasure was left undone, and it is the opinion of those who went that if a Hongkong team returns the visit, we in Shanghai cannot possibly excel the measure of hospitality and kindness accorded our players, if indeed equal it. Similarly, thanks are due local gentlemen and hongs for the generous financial support accorded the Association in respect of the Interport visit (Mr. N. J. Hughes rendered particularly good service in obtaining donations) and also to those members of the public who attended the Interport Trial matches at which a "gate" was charged to help to meet the heavy expense incurred in passages. Incidentally, these same matches were instrumental in raising money for deserving local charities, a portion of the receipts at each match being specially put aside for that purpose. Particulars will be found in the Report of the Hon. Treasurer.

agree to the new administration the definite legacy of an invitation to a Hongkong Interport team to visit Shanghai, tentative inquiries were made as to whether the Hongkong Football Association would be prepared to send a team to Shanghai during the coming season, and it is understood that the Hongkong F. A. would gladly do so if invited.

At the end of the season a communication was received from the Hongkong Football Association asking our views as to the advisability of the institution of an Interport soccer trophy. The matter was fully considered by the Committee, the unanimous verdict being that such a trophy would add considerably to the interest of Interport Association football. A reply to that effect has been sent to the Hongkong Football Association. It is understood that there would be no difficulty in getting a suitable trophy presented.

At the same time, a suggestion from Hongkong that any Interport trophy should be confined to matches between foreigners only was not agreed to by the Committee of this Association, and intimation to that effect has been forwarded to Hongkong.

THE DEWAR SHIELD
(First League)

As has briefly been mentioned, the Shanghai Recreation Club was successful in the competition for this trophy, the runners-up being its old rivals the Shanghai Football Club, with the Public School Boys in third position on the League table. All of the matches in this competition were well attended and most of the games were keenly and cleanly played.

THE RESIDE SHIELD
(Second League)

This competition was won by the Club Lusitano, with 28 points, their nearest competitors being H. M. Navy, with 24 points. Unfortunately, towards the end of the season, interest in this competition slackened off considerably, and the blame, if blame there be, must be placed at the doors of many of the clubs and teams concerned. There was a certain disorganisation in the playing program during March, owing to conditions unforeseen and unavoidable, and though a complete amended program, to allow of all remaining matches being played off, was drawn up at considerable trouble, a number of games were left undecided. I feel I am committing no injustice in saying that some teams who had no further interest in the championship of the League apparently would not, possibly could not, but certainly did not, display that interest in the final stages of the competition, and that co-operation by means of which the League fixtures might easily have been completed, that could reasonably have been expected of them. Such matches as remained unplayed at the end of the season were included in the final League table by awarding each team concerned one point, but no goal, in respect of each match (there were seven in all) unplayed. Even without the adoption of this measure, the Club Lusitano would easily have won the League. It is worthy of mention that H. M. Navy was the only team in the League that actually played all of its matches.

INTERNATIONAL CUP

Only three teams were entered for this competition—Portugal, Scotland and England. England having drawn a bye, Portugal and Scotland met in the first round, Scotland winning by two goals to one. Scotland and England, in the final, had to meet no less than three times before a decision was reached. The first match was played on March 24, and resulted in a score of 2-2; at the second attempt, on March 31, the score was 3-3 after extra time had been played; but at the third time, on April 4, England gained an overwhelming victory by seven goals to none.

GOVERNMENT HAS BIG LEAD IN ERIN; FACTIONS FIGHT

Republicans Fire On Free-state Troops, Killing Corporal

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 1.—The election of the Republican Acting President, Mr. Ruttledge, was celebrated in Ballina, North Mayo, with bonfires. A number of Republicans entered Ballycastle and joined in the rejoicings. When a military patrol from Killala arrived they were received with a volley. A corporal was killed and a fight ensued, which resulted in several casualties. Soldiers cleared the streets of Ballina with fixed bayonets after a soldier had been insulted.

A Free State communique issued in Dublin states that a party of troops was ambushed at Castleconnell last night but suffered no casualties.

(Reuter's Service)

Dublin, Sept. 2 (Later).—The final state of the parties is as follows:

Government	63
Republicans	44
Independents	16
Farmers	15
Labor	15

(Reuter's Service)

Dublin, Sept. 2.—The position of the parties in the Irish elections this evening was as follows:

Government	62
Republicans	43
Independents	16
Farmers	14
Labor	14

The four returns outstanding are all for West Cork where the counting only began yesterday.

The New Dail will assemble on September 19. There is much speculation whether the Republicans will put in an appearance.

(Reuter's Service)

Dublin, Sept. 1.—The state of the parties at noon today was as follows:

Government members 54.
Republicans 38.
Independents 16.
Labor members 14.
Farmers 13.

Eighteen seats remain to be filled. Both the Ministerialists and the Republicans have at present eight more members than at the dissolution of Parliament. It is likely that the Government party will finally exceed 60 and the Republicans 40.

Harbin, Sept. 1.—The American Minister arrived at Harbin on August 31 and was met by all high Chinese officials, representatives of the Administration of the Railway, foreign Consuls and many private admirers.

AMERICANS WIN IN EXCITING PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

First Two Sets Go To 17-15 And 11-13; Tilden Brilliant

(Reuter's Service)

Forest Hills, Sept. 1.—Messrs. Tilden and Williams (America) beat Messrs. Anderson and Hawkes (Australia) in the Doubles match of the Davis Cup Competition Challenge Round today. The scores were 17-15, 11-13, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Play began today in ideal conditions before fashionable throngs. Australia won the toss, and Anderson, starting the service, took the first game owing to Tilden returning three services into the net. The games see-sawed to four all. Hawes was temporarily knocked out in the ninth game by a bullet-like service from his own partner. The game continued to be hotly contested. The gallery was very excited and enthusiastic over the superb tennis of all the players.

The second set was equally evenly contested. All the players were dripping with perspiration and calling up every ounce of energy, nevertheless they were tireless under the terrific strain. The gruelling pace continued in the third set. Tilden in the fourth set excelled himself with cannon-ball deliveries. Hawkes weakened in the fifth set, though Anderson was still playing superbly.

(Reuter's Service)

Noordwijk, Sept. 1.—The British tennis players were somewhat more successful today.

Mrs. Barron beat Miss Veltman, 6-0, 6-1. Miss Colyer and Miss Austin beat Madamoiselle Bouman and Madame Tellegen, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The Dutch players won the remainder of the matches. Mr. Timmer beat Mr. Greig, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2. Mr. van Lennep defeated Mr. Wheatley, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

(Reuter's Service)

Noordwijk, Sept. 2.—The leading Dutchmen maintained the ascendency in the lawn tennis matches today, but the Britons secured several doubles, notably, Messrs. Godfree and Barron beat MM. Bouman and Van Lennep 6-0, 6-1, and Miss Colyer and Mr. Wheatley beat Madame Tellegen and Mr. Nauta 6-2, 6-3.

Italy Refuses To Abide By League's Ruling; Greece Protests Killings

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 3.—In an interview with Reuter's representative on his arrival to London Marquess Curzon referred in a very reserved manner to the Italo-Greek crisis, saying: "The League has taken up the question and that seemed an inevitable preliminary step. Everybody's efforts should be devoted to strengthening the League's hand."

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 2.—The Italian Embassy in London states that the occupation of Corfu is sufficient for the purpose in view, and that there is no truth in the reports that other islands have been occupied by the Italian forces.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Sept. 2.—It is semi-officially stated that the population of Crete demonstrated today in front of the Italian Consulate, the personnel of which is in danger. It is alleged that the Italian flag was insulted.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 2.—A despatch from Athens reports that it is semi-officially stated that the Italian submarine which fired on the Greek steamer Georgios has sunk the vessel.

The Italian Admiral Bellini has forbidden Greek steamers to pass the Straits of Otranto. Four Greek steamers are detained in Italian ports. All Greek shipping companies have suspended their sailings to Italy, but Greece is still permitting Italian ships to call at Greek ports.

The Greek Government has provided a detachment of 30 men to guard the Italian Legation in Athens.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 2.—The newspaper, Eleutheros Tipos, was suspended for a day for styling the Italians "fugitives of Caporetto," and the censor dismissed for allowing publication of the insult.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 2.—The Italian Minister, Signor Montana, today informed the Government that Italy refuses to accept the decision of the League of Nations.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 2.—It is reported, without confirmation up to the present, that the Italians have occupied the islands of Cephalonia and Samos.

It is announced that the Italian Legation has suddenly recalled Colonel Perone, the Italian Military Attache, who was sent to Janina to enquire into the massacre of the Italian Mission.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Sept. 2.—Italian troops have occupied the small islands of Paxos and Antipaxos, which is regarded here simply as the completion of the Italian action in Corfu.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 2.—Well-informed persons believe that the adjournment of the League of Nations' decision regarding the Greek appeal till Tuesday is due to doubt whether the League is legally entitled to take the place of the Conference of Ambassadors in settling the Italo-Greek dispute.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 2.—There is a storm of indignation in Greece over the Italian action. All the theaters are closed as a sign of mourning and numerous public bodies have issued protests. The newspapers are unanimous in condemning the action.

Conversing with the American delegates leaving Athens for Geneva to attend the International Near East Conference, which opens on September 7, the Premier, M. Gonatas, declared that the Greek Government firmly believed that the massacre had not been committed by Greeks. He said that the allegations that the massacre had been committed by Greek bands and connived at by the Government were unfounded. The Italian demands were unjust because Italy had no proofs on which she could even very slightly hold the Greek Government responsible.

The Greeks had committed no wrong. Their national honor would not permit them to plead guilty to the crime by accepting the remaining Italian demands.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Sept. 1.—The reports of the imminent occupation of Samos and Crete by Italian troops are officially denied.

It is semi-officially announced that Admiral Simonetti, commanding in the Lower Adriatic, has been appointed Governor of Corfu.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 1.—The Council of the League of Nations, Viscount Ishii presiding, this afternoon privately discussed Greece's appeal. The Greek representative, M. Politis, was present as a member. The Council, unanimously passed a resolution, agreeing to a short adjournment for the examination of the question, and expressing the fervent hope that Italy and Greece will not meanwhile commit any act which will aggravate the situation.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 1.—Public opinion with regard to the Italo-Greek crisis remains divided. One portion, of which the Temps is the principal monthpiece, urges that the dispute is a local matter which should be settled directly between the two parties concerned, and the other portion, of which the Journal des Debats is the principal exponent, criticises the Italian Government for its precipitancy and advocates the arbitration of the League of Nations as the only solution.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Sept. 1.—A semi-official statement says that the Albanian Prefecture of Argyrocastro, as a result of an enquiry into the massacre of the Italian Mission, have issued a report stating that the road traversed by the missions was barred by posts cut from neighboring forests.

An Italian professor traveling with the Albanian delegation, which was an hour ahead of the Italians, said that he saw a party of Greek soldiers felling trees near the scene of the crime. A forest ranger gave similar evidence.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 1.—At the public sitting of the Council of the League of Nations this morning, the Secretary-General announced the receipt of documents on the Italo-Greek dispute which it was very urgent for the Council to consider. Greece had applied for the intervention of the League under Articles 12 and 15 of the Covenant.

Signor Salandra, the Italian member of the Council, declared that there was nothing in Italy's attitude which could be regarded as a threat of war under Article 12.

The Council met this afternoon to consider the documents.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Athens, Sept. 1.—An Italian submarine in the Gulf of Goumenitza fired on the Greek steamer Georgios, slightly damaging her.

London, Sept. 1.—Reuter's Agency learns that, replying to the Note from the Conference of Ambassadors, the Greek Government agreed to hold an enquiry into the massacre, which it declared would be conducted vigorously. Greece also stated that she was prepared to accept in advance any reparations demanded by the Conference of Ambassadors.

There is much interest in British quarters with regard to the French view of the position that is at present unclear, but it is felt that this is an occasion on which Anglo-French solidarity might have a very useful and calming effect.

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 1.—M. Politis today handed the Secretary of the League of Nations a Note asking for its intervention in the dispute with Italy.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 1.—Official circles in London are gravely perturbed at the turn of events, but it is impossible to give the view of the British Government on Italy's action in the absence of Mr. Baldwin and Marquess Curzon. The latter's plans have not been changed and he will not return to London before the middle of next week.

The British view remains that the question must be left to the League of Nations.

Mr. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, is at present on his way to Malta. It is believed that he conferred with Mr. Baldwin at Aix-les-Bains yesterday.

Official Italian circles in London declare that the League of Nations is not entitled to intervene in a question of Italian honor and prestige, and furthermore that there is no question of Corfu being neutral since the Allies used the island in the Great War.

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 1.—Telegraphic communication between Corfu and Athens was cut at seven o'clock yesterday evening.

It is asserted that the Italians bombarded the forts, which were denuded of guns in accordance with the Florence Convention, although they were informed that the forts were inhabited by refugee orphans. A number of the latter were killed, variously reported as seven or fifteen. The Governor of Corfu and ten officers are detained on an Italian warship. The garrison of the island, numbering 150, has retired into the interior.

M. Gonatas declared yesterday evening that no reply would be sent to the second Italian Note. Greece would await the decisions of the League of Nations. Greece has protested to the Powers against the bombardment of unfortified forts and the killing of the refugees as a violation of international law.

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Sept. 1. — Admiral Solari, commanding the troops at Corfu, in a proclamation to the inhabitants of the island declares that the occupation was necessitated by "barbarous murders."

It is not an act of war but only a manifestation of Italy's inflexible will to obtain reparation. The occupation will remain temporary and peaceful unless the attitude of the islanders obliges special measures to protect the Italian troops.

REGISTRATIONS IN LAW SCHOOL HERE WILL BEGIN TODAY

Registrations and examinations marking the opening of the ninth year of The Comparative Law School of China, Law Department of Soochow University, are scheduled for today and Wednesday of this week. Regular class work will begin on Thursday.

The school has been moved from 20 Quinsan Road across the street to 11a Quinsan Road where it now occupies the three buildings formerly used by the Y. W. C. A. These buildings have been remodelled and fitted out with new furniture especially adopted to the needs of a law school.

More than one hundred students will be enrolled for the work of the new school year. One of the graduates of last year, Mr. Shih Kung, has won the distinction of being the first law student to be sent abroad on a Tsing Hwa fellowship. Mr. Shih was one of several hundred applicants from various schools over China for the five fellowships given this year. The fact that law was made a subject for examination only this year makes the honor the more signal.

The teaching staff has been considerably strengthened. The following Shanghai lawyers and others will serve during the coming term:

Lack Of Funds For Relief Ship Led To Explorers' Deaths

(Reuter's Service)

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Mr. Stewart, the Minister of the Interior, declared that the Government had in no way been officially connected with the Wrangel Expedition, but that he was bound to admire the patriotic spirit in which it had been undertaken.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 1.—The Wrangel Island party consisted of Mr. Allen Crawford, aged 22, son of a Professor of Toronto University, three Americans, Messrs Lorne Knight, Milton Gale and Frederick Maurer, and an Eskimo woman. The woman, who was the sole survivor, was taken to make clothes.

Captain Stefansson, the Canadian explorer whom the Canadian Government commissioned in 1914 to re-establish Imperial rights over the island, interviewed, expressed fears that the party had died of starvation, having only one years provisions when they landed in September 1921, since when there had been no news. The party were provided with a large quantity of ammunition, with which they hoped to subsist by hunting. Last year the supply ship failed to reach the island in consequence of the lateness of its departure as a result of lack of funds.

(Reuter's Service)

Nome, Sept. 1.—The Wrangel Island Relief Expedition state that the first evidence that a previous party had been there was a bottle discovered in a deserted camp on the South side of the island, containing the names of the Crawford party and a declaration claiming Wrangel Island in the name of King George.

The party numbered six, including an Eskimo, Black Jack, the husband of the Eskimo woman. The woman had suffered great privation and fainted at the sight of the expedition. She later related that Messrs. Crawford, Mauren and Gale had perished in the winter of 1921, when they set out over the ice to seek the mainland and never returned. Mr. Knight died of scurvy in June last, while Black Jack had died previously.

(Reuter's Service)

Tromso, Sep. 1.—The geophysical expedition, which left in July en route for Jamaven Island and Greenland to study oceanographical and meteorological conditions, are frozen in off Greenland. The position is not dangerous, but a relief expedition is being prepared.

TEN YEARS' TERM FOR CHINESE WHO FIRED AT OFFICER

Ten years' imprisonment was the sentence imposed by Assessor Whitamore and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court yesterday upon a Chinese charged with attempting to murder Chinese Police Constable No. 661 on Range Road on the night of August 18.

The Constable saw the accused in company with five others, at the corner of North Szechuen and Haining Roads and saw a pistol passed from one to the accused. He followed them to Range Road and there tackled the one carrying the weapon. This man drew the pistol and fired one shot. Special Constable Hall then appeared on the scene and assisted in putting the accused under arrest. Four other men were arrested subsequently and one of these was sentenced to six months imprisonment yesterday, the other three being dismissed.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

September 3, 1923

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London as well as in New York on Saturday. The New York cross rate declined to 454⅜. The only changes in our official quotations was a drop in the Franc rate to 1230.

Our market in the morning was steady business in Sterling being done at 3s. 0⅜d. September, 3s. 0⅛d. October and 3s. 0⅝d. November-December. Gold Dollars were done at 69¾ for near and forward delivery and Yen at 70¼.

In the afternoon, however, speculators became strong sellers and at the close the market was firm with sellers of Sterling at 2s. 1d. September, 3s. 0⅛d. October and 3s. 0⅝d. November.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 70¼ for near delivery and 70 for forward and sellers of Yen at 70 for near and forward delivery.

Banks were quoting 3s. 1½d., 71½ and 1280 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc Bills respectively.

There was practically no business done in either the London or New York silver markets on Saturday both of which are reported as steady.

UNITED STATES NAVY AND WHAT IT STANDS FOR

America's Overseas Commerce Must Be Measured By Its Power

BY ROBERT W. KELLEY

(President Navy League of the United States)

In the world as it really is, most statesmen try to maintain and to raise as high as possible the standard of living in their country by getting as many advantages as they can for their countrymen in competition with others. When a country has greater bounty than it seems to need, its people may tolerate the temporary sacrifice of their real interests by their leaders of the moment; and even though such a course may dissipate the inheritance of their children, the people may prefer to be generous to foreign competitors—temporarily.

But the United States is becoming more and more dependent on outside competitors for such necessary supplies as rubber and oil; and the maintenance of our standard of living is becoming more and more dependent on our succeeding in selling our surplus products overseas in the keenly competitive markets of the world.

KEY TO PROSPERITY

While the sale of surplus products overseas is the key to increased prosperity, such foreign commerce requires the sure delivery of goods in the competitive overseas markets of the world; and certainty of prompt delivery requires more reliable transportation than is to be expected from the merchant ships of competitors. Imagine a department store turning over to a rival department store the delivery of the goods it sells—even if its own delivery system does cost it more money!

Everywhere our products and our ships go they may be exposed to unfair as well as to fair competition. While there should be no unfairness, yet it is the nature of many to take advantage of the weak competitor—even by pressure and force. But no matter how great and strong a country may be at home, the ultimate measure of its strength overseas is the power of its navy effectively to guard from unfairness its business overseas.

FOR OUR COUNTRY'S FUTURE

If the guardian power of our navy is less than the strength of our strongest competitor, we must trust our more powerful rival not to take advantage of our weakness—even though it be to our strong rival's interest to take such advantage. To choose to be weaker at sea than the strongest is to invite unfair discrimination against our valuable overseas commerce.

For our prosperity of today, for the future of our country, for the maintenance of our rights and ideals in the world, and for the utmost prolongation of peace, our navy should be second to none, and in every essential respect in accordance with the ratios for naval strength adopted at the Washington Arms Conference.

The Navy League is conducting an educational campaign on American and foreign naval matters to the end that the principle of the relative limitation of navies, formulated at the Washington conference, be put into practice in every essential respect.

WEATHER

Rainy weather. The continental depression signaled near the Aleutians will cause rough weather between our coasts and Kiu-Siu. The typhoon on the Pacific signaled near Guam will advance N.W.wards. The communications from Japan and the Loochoos are still interrupted.

Holocaust !

THE sympathy of the entire world goes out to Japan. There is nothing that so unites mankind as a calamity for which it is not responsible.

Japan in the past has not failed in relief work for other countries and offers of help to her in her hour of distress are being received from every source of help. Japan will be saved.

Among other nations, China is offering all assistance within her power. In China the Chinese are taking the lead. It is a great thing. Misfortunes draw people together. China has had her misfortunes and Japan hers.

Floods, famines, typhoons, tidal waves, fires, epidemics —disturbances of the orderly and progressive development of a nation. These disasters visit every people. They do not stop the progress of their victims. Wars do. And while we may not as yet be able to protect ourselves against earthquakes, there is a chance that we can stop the disasters which separate and cause us to slay each other ourselves

From everywhere help and encouragement are going out to Japan. She is in desperate straits through no fault of her own. We offer our sincere condolences, and above the smoke and glare of the conflagration, we see a new dawn for Japan. We see two great new modern cities arising from the ashes of Tokio and Yokohama, better than those great cities were before, just as San Francisco and Chicago arose from their ashes.

Chicago's Oriental Gallery

To explore the new gallery of Oriental art, in the Terrace addition of the Art Institute, is to enter another sphere of museum interest. One of the fortunate methods of education of today is that attitude which looks for enjoyment in an art gallery, hoping that a new window will be opened toward beauty in form or in color.

Well does the writer recall a day of spring when by chance a turn in the gallery discovered a great Rhages pottery vase with high relief surviving since 1300 A. D., deeply blue as a winter sky. Its modern history began when it was found shattered in 76 pieces, about 40 feet below the surface of a ruined city, Rhages, which the Mongols had destroyed 80 years before. But so beautiful in color were these fragments that the excavators continued some four years searching for the full number, and then taking them to Paris carefully put them together to restore the most important specimen of Persian relief pottery in existence. The vase is 26 inches in height, nobly proportioned, of a lovely blue, adorned by a hand-modeled band of human figures.

First of all was the sense of gratitude that we could recognise the beauty of proportion, faultless in its grace, and then that our appreciation knew the masterly craft which had commanded the world to declare that this was one of the most finished works of men's hands and that the friezes of human figures were among the finest known specimens of Muhammadan sculpture. The thrill of the artistic sense was the same as that the flower lover feels on contemplating a perfect rose.

A CHINESE PANEL

As one entered the Oriental gallery the other day, a long panel, a Chinese painting, seemed to glow and to be invested in light. Like the noble Rhages vase, so this frail old painting, representing a sage, drawn in the art of eloquent lines toned discreetly in color, had lived on.

The Buckingham collection of Japanese color prints of the Ukiyoe School had made them familiar in the Art Institute, and this second chapter of paintings by many of these artists offered new friends.

Kuho Shunman and Utgawa Toyohiro were painters as well as printmen. The picture of two women standing at a boat landing, by Shunman, is lent by John D. Spalding of Boston, and Toyohiro's painting of a tall Oiram in a gauze kimono, by Mr. S. H. Mori.

The grace of masterly brush strokes impels admiration in these famous works of the Orient.

Six paintings of dancing girls on gold backgrounds, attributed to Iwasa Matahei, the reputed founder of the Ukiyoe artists, was lent by the Yamanaka Company. This adventure into Japanese painting may be followed further in paintings by the early masters Sesshu, Koyetsu, and Sotatsu and the Ukiyo artists Hishikawa Moronobu, one of the Kwaigetsudo group, Shunsho, Hokusai and Hiroshige.

PAINTINGS MORE IDEALISTIC

Japanese paintings are more idealistic than the wood block prints. From the poetry of one it is but a step to the realism of the other. The Japanese prints, like all arts of China, Japan and the cheerful point of view of the India, have their own language. It is not the line or the sign of the Anglo-Saxon or the many-tongued European world. Take the cheerful point of view of the Japanese block-print artist and joy will be with you. A rare group just here is the seven views of Edo by Hiroshige, lent by Charles Chandler. From the shape of the prints it is believed that they were intended for the end of litter sheets. They are accounted among Hiroshige's master works, rare among collectors because of the horizontal form. A pillar print by Harunobu is lent by Mrs. George T. Smith, who also contributed a fine hand-colored print by Masanobu.

The actor-prints in costume give a note of the dramatic. There is a superb portrait of an actor, drawn head and shoulders against a mica ground. It was executed in a few strokes with an air of simplicity. The actors in costume are by Shunsho, Shunko, and the one described by Shunyei, and lent by Mrs. William Sutherland. The triptych "Night Scene," by Shunman is one of these inimitable compositions which it seems only Japanese artists can draw. The portrait of Ichikawa Danjuro Vas Ko no Moronao by Sharaku, is an extraordinary impression, lent, with the "Night Scene," by Frederick S. Colburn.

From this outlook on the past is a vision of the present by the foremost Japanese artist of today, Takeuchi Seiho, in a gallery of the Terrace. This artist seems to give the humor of the past in language of line of the twentieth century. The works are lent by Yonezo Okamoto.

The Supreme Court Of Nations

In the search for some effective method of settling those apparently unavoidable disputes between nations, the inclination, so far as the people of the United States are concerned, seems to be to disregard former partisan prejudices and to forget past political antagonisms. Heretofore the only means seriously attempted have been diplomacy and war. And it has been to the arts of war that humanity has devoted its thought and its greatest skill, possibly because of the belief that diplomacy, as it is shown to have been practiced, is ineffective, if not actually conducive, in the final analysis, to the very conflict which it ostensibly seeks to avoid, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Diplomacy presupposes the existence of otherwise friendly relations between nations which may be momentarily at odds, and a sincere desire on both sides to arrive at a satisfactory common understanding. But history reveals the unwelcome fact that the soft glove of diplomacy too often disguises the mailed fist. Agreements reached by these interchanges are easily broken under some pretext of unexpected conditions which are declared to be a sufficient casus belli. Treaties and alliances become mere scraps of paper when the provocation to war is deemed sufficient. Time has tended to prove that international agreements made to the obvious disadvantage of either of the contracting parties seldom serve to delay more than temporarily the conflict which they seek to make impossible.

The reasonable hope, therefore, is that out of the experience of the nations of the world there may be evolved some satisfactory arbitral agency which may assume jurisdiction, of its own motion, whenever and wherever there may arise disputes which cannot be permanently and satisfactorily adjusted between the nations affected. The people of the United States naturally are committed to some established tribunal with undisputed authority and jurisdiction, endowed with final power to make and enforce its decrees. In their own Supreme Court, the American people find the precedent for the establishment of a Supreme Court of Nations as a permanent third party in international disputes. In discussing this, John Foster Dulles, counsel for the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, has well said:

"The Supreme Court of the United States has demonstrated that, given a permanent judicial tribunal, sovereign states will submit their disputes and abide by its verdict, when they would never permit themselves to be persuaded by their own adversary."

It should be remembered by those people in the United States who may be inclined to believe that no court would be able to compose the differences between nations, that their own Supreme Court was set up by states as jealous of each other and of other sovereign rights as are any of the nations of the world today. The people of those states believed, as has been proved, that it would be sufficient to create an agency, directory in its authority and power, which offered an alternative to force and required no sacrifice of sectional pride. It is this sacrifice of national pride which so frequently renders impossible or ineffective the efforts toward direct settlement by diplomatic interchange. A Supreme Court of Nations, in the form of the present World Court or similarly constituted, undoubtedly would be an insurer of peace, not because it would make resort to force impossible, but because it would be constantly responsive to human needs, and be regarded, not as a super-state or arbitrary mentor, but as representing the composite integrity of civilisation.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

"There's joy in Pinkneyville today," said Hamilton McWade;
"The folks are keen to celebrate by havin' a parade;
Judge Parker made a speech last night about the town's good luck,
Deliverin' his wisdom from the rear end of a truck.

"Jack Crosby has for many years went on from bad to worse;
He always seemed to want to prove that licker was a curse;
When things were wet he used to get so tight we thought he'd die,
And he has kept at it since the country has been dry.

"His two boys, Jim and Henry, both are very much like Jack;
And neither of 'em ever had a clean shirt on his back;
They got themselves turned out of school, and everywhere they went,
They never seemed to fail to start some kind of devilment

"There wasn't nothin' ever safe that they could break or steal;
No use at all to try to coax them boys to earn a meal;
But things are changed, and there's relief all over town today;
There's talk about a barbecue—the people feel so gay.

"Judge Parker, in his speech last night, said, 'Folks, the time is here
To give the Crosby family one rip roarin,' rousin' cheer;
It's only right to have this known and clearly understood;
By movin' out of town they've done the place a heap of good'."

Something To Think About

By Bruno Lessing

NOISE

Somewhere or other, a long time ago, I came across an American Indian proverb which ran like this,

"One loon makes more noise than a thousand sparrows."

Have you ever heard a loon cry in the northern woods? It is the wildest, weirdest, most ear-piercing, unearthly outburst you ever heard in your life. It is some noise.

And if you saw the loon you would laugh. He is so ungainly, so stupid-looking that, the moment you hear him utter his wild sound, you feel that he was put into the world for no other purpose than to make a noise.

If you follow the newspapers carefully or attend many public meetings or observe the sessions of our American legislatures—and it is exactly the same in Europe—this proverb ought to appeal to you. For you must have noticed that one flamboyant politician or orator or quack of any kind, has a knack of making more noise than a thousand earnest, thinking people.

Where you hear noise, you rarely find progress. The man who makes a great tumult in his sphere uses up so much of his energy in producing his noise that he rarely has any left for serious purposes.

It is the quiet thinker who helps push the world ahead. He works without ostentation, concentrating his mind upon his task, and does not fritter away his energy in spectacular display. He does not seek notoriety. He does not seek money. Above all, he does not waste his time in fooling the multitude into believing that he is a great man. Because he cannot care a hang about what the multitude think and devote himself whole-heartedly to his work, at the same time.

He is like the sparrow, chirping his way through life on his own business. The loud-mouthed reformer who keeps telling you that he is devoting his life to your interests is like the loon.

This is a warning to you, therefore, to interest yourself in the sparrow and not bother about the loon. The man who tells you that he is lying awake at night, worrying about your troubles and is just dying to help you and to lead you into the land of milk and honey is very likely to be either a fanatic or a fraud. It makes no difference whether he is interested in your finances, your health or your politics. He is playing his game; not yours. And the more noise he makes, the further you ought to keep away from him.

When Men Come To Dine

BY ELIZABETH CRAIG

I nearly always omit the sweet course when men come to dine. I have found from experience that at least nine out of ten would rather have a savoury to top the meal.

Canapes a la Reine is a favourite.—Put three ounces cooked lean ham through the meat-chopper, then pound it for about ten minutes till it is a smooth pulp. Now add half an ounce butter, two tablespoonfuls of Worcester sauce, half a saltspoonful of cayenne, and half a teaspoonful of French mustard. Pound again for another five minutes, then prepare six rounds of toast, each two inches across and a quarter of an inch thick, and divide the ham mixture evenly between them, shaping each like a dome.

Cheese Poufe is popular.—Melt one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, then stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, and half a pint of milk. Cook for a minute, stirring all the time, then add six tablespoonful grated cheese, salt and pepper to taste, a soupcon of mixed herbs, and the beaten yolks of five eggs. Now lightly fold in the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs, pour the mixture into a buttered au gratin dish, and bake for fifteen minutes in a moderate oven.

As for Snappy Slices, as one guest calls the following they are very savoury.—Sift a quarter of a pound of flour into a basin, moisten it with one gill warm water, add a pinch of salt, and one tablespoonful of olive oil, and mix till smooth with a wooden spoon. Now beat three eggs to a stiff froth, fold them lightly into the batter, cut as many slices of Swiss cheese one-eighth of an inch thick as you want, soak each slice in the batter, and fry in two tablespoonfuls of hot melted butter. When brown on one side, turn on the other. Serve very hot.

Tomatoes a l'Espagnole are an equally good savoury.—Cut the tops from the stem ends of four medium-sized tomatoes, and scrape out the seeds. Season inside of each lightly with salt and paprika. Now peel and break in small pieces three-quarters of a pound of mushroom caps, saute them in a little melted butter for five minutes, then stir them into half a cupful of thick, white sauce, adding salt, paprika, and minced parsley to taste. Pile up the mixture in the tomatoes, place each in a small fireproof or dish, sprinkle with grated cheese, and minced almonds, and bake about twelve minutes.

Sardines au Cratin are good.—Heat one tablespoonful of olive oil in a fireproof dish, add a finely minced onion, and gently brown for five minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile wipe and split down fronts of one dozen goodsized sardines, then bone them arrange in the dish over the onions. Now knead together in a bowl one ounce of fresh butter, half a teaspoonful of freshly chopped jarsley, two tablespoonfuls breadcrumbs, half a bean of garlic finely minced. Divide mixture in small bits over sardines, sprinke lightly with grated Gruyere cheese, and bake in a brisk oven for five minutes.

Stuffed Onions.—Peel three pounds of medium-sized onions, then cook them gently until tender in boiling, salted water. Drain and rinse with cold water, then, with a sharp, pointed knife, remove centres, which chop and mix well with half a cup chopped and blanched almonds, half a cup breadcrumbs, the beaten yolk of an egg, and one teaspoonful salt, and pepper, and celery salt to taste. Fill up onions, and bake for thirty minutes on a greased tin in a moderate oven.

EXTRACT FROM EXPERT REPORT:

"Having visited most of the cement factories of Great Britain, America and Europe, I am in a position to form an opinion of the relative merits and faults of each ..... but my experiences lead me to the conclusion that 'pride of place' must unquestionably be given to the Holderbank Factory in Switzerland .....In design and construction it is a model without rival in any country." The Wisdom of the ancient Sage and the technical experiences of a modern authority on cement manufacturing have guided us to instal a set of machinery in our Lungwha Works which is an exact model of the one used by the Holderbank factory, Switzerland, and supplied by the original patentees with numerous latest improvements. A Treasure-Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT

THERE is an item going the rounds of the press relative to the well known curiosity of woman. It states that if a man brings a newspaper home out of which a piece has been clipped his wife will never rest until she has procured another paper to see what it was that had been cut out.

A Houston man was quite impressed with the idea, so he resolved to make the experiment. One night last week he cut out of the day's paper a little two-inch catarrh-cure advertisement, and left the mutilated paper on the table where his wife would be sure to read it.

He picked up a book and pretended to be interested, while he watched her glance over the paper. When she struck the place where the piece had been cut, she frowned and seemed to be thinking every seriously.

However, she did not say anything about it and the man was in doubt as to whether her curiosity had been aroused or not.

The next day when he came home to dinner she met him at the door with flashing eyes and an ominous look about her jaw.

"You miserable, deceitful wretch!" she cried. "After living all these years with you to find that you have been basely deceiving me and leading a double life, and bringing shame and sorrow upon your innocent family! I always thought you were a villain and a reprobate, and now I have positive proof of the fact."

"Wh-Wha- what do you mean, Maria?" he gasped. "I haven't been doing anything."

"Of course you are ready to add lying to your catalogue of vices. Since you pretend not to understand me look at this."

She held up to his gaze a complete paper of the issue of the day before.

"You thought to hide your actions from me by cutting out part of the paper, but I was too sharp for you."

"Why that was just a little joke, Maria. I didn't think you would take it seriously."

"Do you call that a joke, you shameless wretch?" she cried, spreading the paper before him.

The man looked and read in dismay. In cutting out the catarrh advertisement he had never thought to see what was on the other side of it, and this was the item that appeared to one reading the other side of the page, to have been clipped:

"A gentlemen about town, who stands well in business circles, had a high old time last night in a certain restaurant where he entertained at supper a couple of chorus ladies belonging to the comic opera company now in the city. Loud talking and breaking of dishes attracted some attention, but the matter was smoothed over, owing to the prominence of the gentleman referred to."

"You call that a joke, do you, you reptile, "shrieked the excited lady. "I'm going home to mamma this evening and I'm going to stay there. Thought you'd fool me by cutting it out, did you? You sneaking, dissipated old snake you! I've got my trunk nicely packed and I'm going straight home—don't you come near me!"

"Maria," gasped the bewildered man. "I swear I—."

"Don't add perjury to your crimes, sir!"

The man tried unsuccessfully to speak three or four times, and then grabbed his hat and ran down town. Fifteen minutes later he came back bringing two new silk dress patterns, four pounds of caramels, and his bookkeeper and three clerks to prove that he was hard at work in the store, on the night in question.

The affair was finally settled satisfactorily, but there is one Houston man who has no further curiosity about woman's curiosity.

Across The Breakfast Table

By Mr. and Mrs. W. L. George

GIRLISH BUT CLEVER

Mr. George: What do you think of the scrape Mamie got into? I believe Henry didn't give you all the details. I expect he was sparing your blushes. What happened exactly is that Mamie was introduced to a man at a dance on Tuesday night; he got her into his automobile and took her out into the country for a run. Outside a wood the car stopped suddenly and he pretended that it had broken down. But Mamie is a cute child and her reputation is safe, for while he was looking for a place to camp for the night she started the car and went off, leaving him in the wood.

Mrs. George: I really didn't give Mamie credit for so much sense. All the same, I don't admire her cuteness. Since she has so much sense she should not put herself into these awkward positions. You seem to think that in my eyes the modern girl is a fool. Not at all. I think she's very clever but she uses her cleverness in the wrong direction.

Mr. George: Really, sometimes I think that I've married Queen Victoria. In the old days everybody complained that girls were fools, and now people complain because they're clever. Just because you're a married woman you look down upon girls as if they were black beetles. You ought to be glad that they're beetles that can take care of themselves. What you see in Mamie is the equalisation of the sexes; you see the girl no longer the helpless victim of any ruffian, but indeed turning the tables upon him. I say it's about time, and the more men Mamie dumps in woods the better I shall be pleased.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician knowing of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

Wedding

WATTON—HILL.

Miss Eva Nina Hill, stepdaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vida, became the bride of Mr. Victor Harvey Willis Watton of the Shanghai Municipal Council, son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Walter Harvey Watton of Hongkong, at a very pretty ceremony at the Holy Trinity Cathedral yesterday afternoon. The Rev. C. E. Spencer, sub-dean, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. Vida, looked beautiful in an exquisite white lace dress over white taffeta with a veil of Breton lace arranged on a Russian head band of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Her sister, Miss Melba Hill, her bridesmaid, wore a very pretty gown of pink accordion pleated georgette over blue satin, a white lace hat, and carried a boquet of pink carnations. Mrs. Vida, the matron of honor, wore grey lace over mauve georgette, with hat to match.

Mr. John Huxley served as best man and Mr. Georgie Johnston and Mr. Francis Henry acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gande, 4 Weihaiwei Road. Mr. and Mrs. Watton will spend their honeymoon in Tsingtao.

A COFFEE DISCOVERY

According to an Arabian legend, Hadji Omar, a pious dervish, was outlawed from Mocha in the year 1285. When almost dying of hunger in the wilderness, he roasted some of the small round berries he found growing wild in thickets. A few of the roasted berries accidentally fell into his drinking water, and thus coffee was discovered.
